

Who we are

The Brosnan Centre, a program of Jesuit Social Services has been 'Standing in Solidarity with those in Need', for over 25 years through providing practical, positive and personal services to young people who have spent time in justice systems.

What we do

Support people, between the ages of 17-25 years to make a safe and smooth transition from custody to the community.

Support you to meet your needs such as:

- > finding accommodation
- > rebuilding relationships
- > finding employment/training
- > accessing legal representation
- > addressing substance use
- > talking to someone
