Jesuit Social Services works to build a just society by advocating for social change and promoting the health and wellbeing of disadvantaged young people, families and communities.

Our mission

Standing in solidarity with those in need
Expressing a faith that promotes justice

Our values

- Welcoming - forming strong, faithful relationships
- Discerning – being strategic about how we can have the greatest impact
- Courageous - standing up boldly to effect change

Building relationships is the heart of our work.

In all our services our goal is to enable people to connect with others so they can take an active part in the community.

Only when people form relationships can they come to trust again. When they trust, they may imagine new possibilities and pursue them.

We don't give up on people.

Since 1977 we have been standing up for people's rights. We work with people without supports who have had a history of abuse, neglect and isolation.

We work with

- young people in the justice system, supporting them to make a successful transition from custody back into the community.
- young people with mental health and substance use problems, helping to put them on a pathway to education, training and employment.
- vulnerable families and disadvantaged communities, working with them to build resilience and capacity.
